We encourage parents to join the child on the ice for this event. There are no instructors or referees and this is not a "learn to skate" program. This is designed as a fun community event. All skaters must wear a helmet. Proper equipment is the responsibility of the skaters.

Preventing conflict with Coyotes

Edmonton residents can do a great deal to help avoid negative human-coyote interactions and minimize the need for lethal management. The most important thing to do is to ensure that coyotes keep their natural fear of humans through aversive conditioning. The idea behind this is that if interactions with humans are consistently unpleasant for the coyote, it will learn to avoid them. On the other hand, if coyotes lose their fear and become habituated, they are much more likely to access human food and become nuisances. This process, called food conditioning, is very likely to generate conflict with human residents. Because of this it is also important to reduce the availability of possible attractants (such as compost, garbage, bird seed, pet food, and even outdoor pets) to coyotes. Conflict endangers people, and consequently, wildlife managers have no choice but to remove these animals from the population.

We need your help!

Here are a few simple things that can be done to discourage coyote habituation:

- When you encounter a coyote act aggressive: Shout in a deep voice, wave your arms, throw non-edible objects towards the coyote, and make yourself look big while maintaining eye contact Never run away: like with most dogs this behavior makes them want to chase after you
- Secure anything that could attract coyotes to your property (garbage, compost, birdseed, pet food, fallen fruit- see Operation Fruit Rescue).
- Keep cats and small dogs indoors, and keep them on-leash in park areas
- Never feed a coyote either person or by leaving food for it

DOGS ON-LEASH ONLY

Be a responsible pet owner and follow the rules of the Animal Licensing and Control, and Parkland Bylaws.

- ▶ License your dog
- ▶ Pick up after your dog
- ▶ Leash your dog outside your property (unless in a signed off-leash area)
- ▶ Dogs are not allowed in parks, green spaces, sportsfields, picnic areas or on school grounds (even on leash).
- ▶ You can walk your dog on leash on permanent trails that cross through park spaces but, dogs must be kept 10 metres from all playgrounds, sportsfields and picnic sites.
- ▶ When walking your dog, use a leash no longer than two metres (six feet) in length.

Parks for Paws (Off Leash)

Edmonton has many off-leash dog parks for you and your pet to enjoy. Visit edmonton.ca/parks or call 780-496-1475 or 780-496-8860 for a Parks for Paws brochure.

Lendrum Crafters

Summer 2011

will be going door to door selling their chocolate mint cookies the afternoon of Saturday October 29th? The cookies are still only $4/box.

Proceeds offset the costs of our camps. This year the camps will have us traveling without actually leaving home. The first camp will be November 5 & 6, where the girls will be “traveling” to the four Guiding World Centers in Switzerland, Mexico, England and India. Our second camp will see us “traveling” to Iceland in February, our third camp will have us “traveling” back in time at Fort Edmonton in April and our final camp will have us “traveling” to the great outdoors in June. This promises to be another great year for the Guides. Thanks as always to the generous residents of Lendrum all this is possible.

7th Annual Reflex Manufacturing Empty Bowls Luncheon & Silent Auction
Monday October 24, 2011

At The Sutton Place Hotel

11:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

Tickets are $25 each or $240 for a table of 10

The Empty Bowls Luncheon and Silent Auction is a unique event in that previous to the luncheon we have local dignitaries, luminaries, and celebrities to hand make clay bowls which are then auctioned off in a silent auction. There will be a wonderful lunch catered by The Sutton Place Hotel and then our guest speaker, 2010 Aboriginal Female Artist of the Year, Shy-Anne Hovorka will speak and perform some of her award winning music. There will be a robust silent auction set up with many interesting and unique items to be bid on. This event only happens once a year and is a great opportunity to enjoy yourself and help Edmonton Women’s Shelter Ltd. continue our services within the community. For more information please visit our website www.winhouse.org or call Bryce at 780-471-6709 ext. 225 or email at ewsmrktg@telusplanet.net

Operation Mobile Speed Bump...Update

With the opening of the Go Centre ...speeders and many people that just are not paying attention to pedestrians continue using Lendrum as a short cut on a daily basis. Lets all continue the habit of driving through and around our school and park area at 30 km or slightly less. It is a little thing each and every resident can do that helps to discourage the short cutters that are using our streets as a race track. If you notice anyone using excessive speed please call the police with their license plate number and a brief description of how unsafe their actions were. It's working...keep it up Lendrum!!!

Personal Safety In your community

- Be assertive when walking. Attackers see victims who appear intimidated or vulnerable.
- Plan your route ahead of time before going for a walk and let others know where you are going.
- Walk with a companion if you feel that being alone may put you at risk. Observe your surroundings. If you are hesitant about rounding a corner or walking down a certain street, follow your instincts.
- Stay on busier, well-lit streets. Avoid dark or concealed areas and never assume parked cars are empty.
- Do not overload yourself with parcels. These may block your view or reduce your mobility.
- If you are followed, quickly assess your options. Can you run or change directions? Are there people nearby, a house or an open business to run to? is there a well-lit area to move towards?
- Never hitchhike

Halloween Safety

Alberta Health Services EMS would like to remind parents and trick-or-treaters of some basic Halloween safety tips as October 31st approaches. As a member of the UNICEF Partners for Safety, ambulances, along with police, fire, bylaw, transit, and Shaw Cable vehicles will be out patrolling communities on Halloween night to provide a visible safety resource for parents and trick-or-treaters.

Trick-or-Treaters

Remember: all regular pedestrian rules still apply. Be sure to cross the road at marked cross walks or well lit corners only. It is safest to work your way up one side of the street and then cross once to the other side.

Stay away from houses that are not well lit and do not accept rides from strangers or enter any home you feel is unsafe.

Let your parents know where you are going to be at all times and advise them if you will be late returning.

Parents

Be certain that young trick-or-treaters are accompanied by an adult. Older children should stay in groups of three or more.

Pre-determine boundaries to trick-or-treat within and establish a firm time to return home.

Advise children not to eat anything until they return home. Dispose of any items that appear to have been tampered with, or that are not properly wrapped.

Costumes

Choose bright colored costumes that are highly visible. Adding reflective tape to costumes further increases visibility.

Consider sending your children with a flashlight for additional safety and increased visibility.

When purchasing or making costumes, look for materials and accessories that are labeled flame-resistant.

All costume accessories, such as sticks, rods or wands, should be soft and flexible with no sharp edges.

Consider using hypoallergenic make-up kits instead of masks that may impair vision or breathing.

Be sure costumes are loose enough to be worn over warm clothing – but not so baggy or long they become a tripping hazard. Costumes should not be longer than your child's ankles.

Ensure your child is wearing adequate foot wear that takes into consideration weather conditions and walking.

How to Save Money and the Environment

By Eco-Ellen

Does the "Eco" of Eco-Ellen stand for economical or ecological? The answer is both. While there are those who would like to convince you that buying a new hybrid vehicle or expensive green cleaning products are the best ways to ease your guilty conscious over the giant carbon footprints created by us northern suburban dwellers, I would argue that some of the very best ways you can care for the environment are by doing things that will actually save you money and effort.

1. Grasscycle. Leaving your grass clippings on the lawn means no dumping heavy wet grass into bags and then hauling them to the curb. The clippings keep your lawn from drying out so you don't have to water, and you don't have to fertilize either!
2. Bike, walk or carpool. You can stop paying for a gym membership, and you don't have to spend as much time on car maintenance or waiting in line for gas. Bike on nice days to work, and when it's yucky outside you can relax and read while you are riding the LRT. Or, sleep in a few minutes later when it is your neighbour's turn to drive downtown and eat your Wheaties on the go (and pay half as much for parking!). Go to carpool.ca, to hook up with Edmonton's free online, ride-matching service.
3. Read the news online. The best thing a single household can do to reduce the amount of waste they produce is to cancel the newspaper subscription. Not only is it substantially cheaper or free to read online, it saves you from dealing with all that paper. Paper and paper products make up about 35 to 40% of municipal waste, and a year's worth of the New York Times is equal to about 50,000 Big Mac containers.
4. Compost. It's completely free to collect kitchen scraps and start a compost pile in your backyard. Composting cuts down on the amount of garbage bags you have to buy (and the frequency with which you have to take out your now not-so-stinky trash), and you'll have your own homemade grade-A fertilizer for your lawn or flower bed!
5. Get dryer balls. For just a buck or two, you can buy these handy little things just about anywhere. They will greatly reduce the amount of time that you have to run the clothes dryer for, plus they make your towels softer and fluffier! If you're at all normal when it comes to running the dryer, you'll be in the black in just a few months.

Chances are that your parents or grandparents may also know of simple and easy ways to conserve that would also be helpful to us today. Please send an e-mail to ecoellen@hotmail.ca if you have some good ideas you would like to share or an idea for next month's article. I am willing to give free advice on composting and recycling in Edmonton, and even have come free worms to share if anyone would like to learn how to do worm composting!

Door side collection

City collectors help those in need

For many seniors and people with restricted mobility, taking out the garbage or recycling is a huge challenge, especially when it's wet or icy outside.

So where can they turn to for help? The City of Edmonton offers an assisted waste collection service for people who have difficulty getting their garbage and recycling to the curb.

This service is available at no charge for Edmonton residents with mobility challenges who don't have someone to help them take out their waste. There is a brief application form online or you can call Waste Management Services to apply for the program. Once you are set up, a waste collector will come to the door and pick up your garbage and recycling from outside your front or back door.

When Ursula Buffi, an Edmonton resident who uses a walker, first heard about assisted waste collection, she signed up immediately. Now, she says she considers the service a lifesaver. "I am so thankful to have this help," she says. "When you have mobility issues, it's great to get that much support. I can't brag enough about it."

Over 170 people currently receive assisted waste collection. Collectors pick up the same materials collected from all households.

To find more information or to sign up for this service, call 780-496-5698 or visit Edmonton.ca/waste.
